

AAT tutor toolkits.

Welcome to our guide.

We have a team of more than 30 in-house authors, all professionally qualified and experts in their field. Each specialises in just one or two subject areas, and their considerable experience helps them to write in an understandable way that students can relate to. Many are ex-examiners who have directly worked alongside professional bodies and examining boards, while others have a background in hands-on classroom tuition.

BPP's AAT courses are known for their outstanding pass rates, and have won multiple awards from the AAT – so you can be sure of their exceptional quality. The very same teaching and learning materials we provide for you are used on our own AAT courses. Which means you're in safe hands with BPP.

- Collectively, our Learning Media team has an in-depth knowledge of educational practice and the professional bodies whose qualifications they write for. Most importantly though, they really understand you and what you need from world-class teaching resources that get results time and time again.

Whatever you need, we can help.
